

First amendment rights have been abused too much, and they have been used to benefit politicians with financial motivations. Anyone with a financial interest in any communication forums should be excluded from decision making.. If the radio and other broadcasters are feeling the sting from the new satellite radio competition, they should chalk it up to democracy. If they don't like democracy.. they can leave this country.. Remember.. satellite radio subscribers are paying for the service provided, just like satellite television. We choose not to watch broadcasted television, and we choose whether we want to listen to free or pay radio broadcasts.. there is no difference.. the radio and broadcast industry should stop wasting money on fighting a lost cause.. use the money to improve their programming, and last but not at all least... limit commercials!!
